DEAR ART ACCESS FRIENDS

Dear Art Access Supporters,

What a year it has been! This was my first full year as Executive Director, and I feel so privileged to be at the helm of Art Access with such a remarkable community of staff, donors, volunteers, board members, artists and patrons. Thank you to all of you who make it possible for Art Access to make the arts accessible for ALL people in our community and to use art as a vehicle for important conversations and social change. I am honored to be in this work with you.

This year we brought back a much beloved program: Partners Artist Mentoring Program. Through this program we were able to select five emerging artists with disabilities, give them a $750 materials stipend and pair them with a local professional teaching artist for at least 25 hours of intensive instruction. In watching these artists flourish we are reminded of how important it is to make sure that people with disabilities have equal access to arts experiences, learning, and professional development, otherwise we miss out on incredible artists and art.

Art Access was honored to receive funding from the National Endowment for the Arts and recognition from Governor Gary Herbert for our Art Therapy for Survivors of Sexual Assault Program. This year we will be doubling our programs for survivors of all genders including specialized programs for activity duty and Veteran survivors of military sexual trauma. With the growing and necessary public conversation about sexual assault, survivors are seeking support in unprecedented numbers, and we are proud to be a place where survivors build community and heal through art.

Thank you to all of you who make it possible for Art Access to make the arts accessible for ALL people in our community.

Finally, we had our largest 300 Plates Fund-raiser and Exhibition EVER and held the event offsite for the very first time. We raised more money, exhibited and sold more plates, included more artists, and sold more tickets than we ever have. A quarter of our operating revenue is raised through 300 Plates, thanks to the generosity of our sponsors, artists, and patrons. The money we raised will make it possible for us to increase our advocacy and education around making our larger arts and cultural sector more accessible and create new programming to address current critical needs in the community.

Thank you for your support--we look forward to continuing this important work with you.

With love and gratitude,

Shandra Benito

Executive Director

ART THERAPY

Art Therapy for Survivors of Sexual Assault

Art Access' art therapy program for survivors of sexual assault is the only program in Utah that is led by a licensed Art Therapist. Art Access partners with Jill Johnson (MAAT) to conduct our Art Therapy for Survivors workshops, Open Studios, and retreats. Adult participants are provided with an opportunity to express themselves and heal through art through a variety of visual art experiences. In March 2018, our Art Therapy series had 18 participants.

In June 2018, thanks to funding from the National Endowment for the Arts, we hosted a gallery exhibit with works exclusively by first and secondary survivors of sexual trauma. We had 15 artists participate & 120 community members attend the opening reception on June 15, 2018.

Art Therapy Workshops:

- 2/10/18 - Open Studio for Survivors
- 3/6 - 4/03/18 - 4-week Art Therapy Workshop
- 6/13/18 - Open Studio for Survivors

Studio E: Art Therapy for Adults and Children with Epilepsy

In 2018 we once again partnered with The Epilepsy Foundation of Utah to host Studio E. Participants created art in a group setting at Art Access under the direction of a licensed art therapist. This 4-week program was offered in 3 sessions. One for adults over 18, one for children who developmentally are on grade level, and one for children who are below grade level. In 2018 we had 29 participants in this program.

Studio E Workshops:

- 3/3 - 3/24/18 - Studio E for Adults with Ida Yoked
- 6/11/- 6/21/18 - Studio E For Youth who are on grade level with Vickie Morgan
- 8/6 - 8/9/18 - Studio E for Youth who are developmentally below grade level with Jill Johnson

PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT AND ADVOCACY

Art Access and Access II

Our Galleries create a space to feature the artwork of underrepresented artists, share diverse perspectives from our community, and foster dialogue around important social issues. Our gallery showcases art by artists with disabilities, workshop participants, immigrants and refugees, Veterans, survivors, people of color, and more. 29 exhibits were hosted or curated by Art Access in 2018. Some of the themes explored in Art Access Gallery and Access II Gallery 2018 were infertility, public lands, vulnerability, and mental illness. Additionally, for Salt Lake Acting Company’s show Her in February 2018, we curated an exhibit with works exclusively made by artists who identified as transgender, gender non-conforming or non-binary.

In 2018 we also hosted a series of Music in the Gallery events as part of our sensory-friendly Saturday Gallery hours. Dr. Kaisa Sokol-Borup performed selected works by G.F. Telemann for violin.

Public Readings

This program gives the public an opportunity to hear works by local artists. We partner with both authors and local organizations to bring in fiction and non-fiction works that educate the community on a variety of issues. In 2018, we invited author and Veteran Kael Weston, to come read excerpts from his book The Mirror Test. Additionally, all writing workshops offered at Art Access culminate in a public reading by participants of works created in the class.

Permanent Collection

The Permanent Collection promotes our mission and increases appreciation for the talents of artists of all abilities through the purchase, collection, and display of artwork from Utah artists with disabilities. The Collection currently includes over 150 pieces of original art, which we loan to community organizations for short-term public display at no cost to the host location.

ART EVERYWHERE

What happened to the onsite youth workshops?

Due to an increased demand for on-site workshops at K-12 schools and after-hours programs, we have altered our workshop model. Contracted Workshops are provided at after school programs and other community centers in the area that have expressed interest in having an art component. Each workshop is tailored to the individual needs and interests of the site's population. These programs are provided at no cost to the individuals that attend.

Contracted Workshops

In 2018 we hosted 22 workshops, and served 1,209 children, teens, and adults. The Contracted Workshop program brings art workshops to youth and adults at local community organizations and our gallery. Through partnerships with community youth centers and schools, participants can engage creatively in the arts under the direction of local professional artists. These workshops are some of the only workshops in the Salt Lake City area designed with the needs of youth of all abilities in mind.

Integrated Arts & Adult Residencies

In 2018, we had 12 Integrated Arts sites. Integrated Arts provide inclusive arts education services to children and teens who receive special education services in Utah public schools and in disability or other high-need service venues. We also conducted 12 Adult Residency sites. Adult Residencies provide arts education opportunities to adults with disabilities throughout the Salt Lake Valley. Educators and service providers collaborate with professional artists to create site-specific residency programs in the visual, performing or literary arts.

“Before this workshop, many of these students didn’t believe that college was an option for them. After having an artist here teaching them, who also teaches at the college level, they are re-thinking that belief. Art is opening doors for these kids and it is so awesome to see.”

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Dear Friends of Art Access,

2018 marked a year of incredible programmatic growth for Art Access. The board and I are filled with wonder at what our passionate Executive Director and dedicated staff have been able to accomplish on such a lean budget. Everywhere I go, I am approached by people who have heard about the work that Art Access is doing, and want to be part of our work removing barriers to inclusion in our community.

This year, we expanded the number of participants in our Partners Program, strengthened our art therapy program for survivors of sexual assault, and served more children and teens than ever through our contracted workshops and Integrated Arts Residencies. Our visual arts and writing workshops, as well as our Open Studio for People with Disabilities, helped us reach out to emerging artists. The Gallery hosted 29 exhibits, exploring themes including infertility, public lands, and mental illness. Public readings and Sensory-Friendly Saturday music performances helped open our Gallery doors to new audiences. Art Access' mission of providing creative opportunities for people with disabilities and other marginalized communities has never been clearer.

The board is working hard to reach out to the larger community about the impact of our work, and to continue to broaden sources of funding for Art Access' programs. We are dependent on and grateful to our generous donors. Without you, none of this could happen.

I want to personally thank you for helping us build a more inclusive, just, and compassionate community, and for your commitment to sustaining and expanding the impressive work that Art Access does. We served over 18,000 people in 2018. We hope we can count on you to help us strengthen our financial foundation and expand to new audiences in 2019.
